THE Biggest BEAR HUG

One misty morning, Bear woke up to find his favorite holiday sweater was missing.

"Oh salmonberries!" cried Bear. "The holidays aren't the holidays without my favorite sweater!"

"Don't worry, Bear," said Fox. "You can still celebrate the holidays! Pack a bag, friend. We're going for a drive."

Bear wanted to find his sweater, but Bear also liked adventures, and he thought maybe they'd stop at a pancake diner. He waved goodbye to the coast and squeezed into Fox's red car.

"First stop, the desert!" said Fox.

As they drove, Fox and Bear sang songs and snacked on raspberries. When they arrived in the desert, they stopped to knock on a spikey bush.

"OW!" said Hedgehog, uncurling himself.

"Happy holidays, Hedgehog! We brought you a gift," said Bear.

"Prickly Pear Pie?! My fave! The holidays aren't the holidays without it!"

Bear missed his sweater.

"Are you going to the party?" asked Hedgehog.

"What party?" Bear perked up.

Fox smiled.

"Second stop, the mountains!" said Fox.

Fox, Bear, and Hedgehog drove along, sharing the pie and listening to National Park Radio. When they arrived at a very snowy mountain, they stopped and knocked on a wooden door.

Raccoon stuck her head out, catching tiny snowflakes on her nose.

"Happy holidays, Raccoon! We brought you a gift!"

"New paintbrushes!" Raccoon jumped up and down. "Now I can paint my holiday cards. The holidays aren't the holidays without them!"

Bear missed his sweater.

"Are you going to the party?" asked Raccoon.

"What party?!" chimed Bear.

Fox and Hedgehog smiled.

"Third stop, the forest!" said Fox.

The friends hopped in the car and helped Raccoon paint her cards. As they approached the forest, they spotted a familiar and wise bird.

Raccoon rolled down her window, "Owl...is that you?"

"Yoo-who, friends! Take a left at the first snowy tree," said Owl with a wink.

As they turned, something magical appeared.

A forest party! With all of their friends! And right in the center...the biggest, nicest holiday sweater Bear had ever seen.

"For you, friend," cheered Fox.

The sweater was fuzzy like Fox, sweet like Hedgehog, colorful like Raccoon, and cozy like Owl. All of Bear's friends had knitted Bear a new holiday sweater.

"Happy holidays, Bear," said Fox.

"We knew your holidays wouldn't be the holidays without it."

Bear was so touched, he didn't know what to say, so he stretched out his arms and scooped up his friends in the biggest bear hug, and everyone hugged back.

Bear realized the best part of the holidays wasn't the sweater, but something fuzzy, and sweet, and colorful, and cozy, just like his friends.

"Happy holidays, friends," said Bear. And he meant it.

Meet the artist

Lisk Feng is an award-winning illustrator who brings colorful characters and narratives to life through children's books and publications seen across the world (psst, check out her self-portrait). She loves to play guitar, sing jazz, gaze at sunsets, and travel to the coast. Her favorite woodland creatures are raccoons because they're sneaky, yet resourceful. Originally from China, she now lives in New York with her mysterious black cat, Poepoe.

Road trip in a box

Grown-ups, gather glue, tape, two boxes, and scissors, then build a ride that's ready for adventure. Share the fun with #deliveringsmiles

Merry Memories

The party's getting started with dancing and cheer.
Who else to invite? Draw them all right here!

1

Break down a large box and cut one vertical seam so it lays completely flat on all sides.

2

Trace our van or trailer design (see detailed instructions below) onto the flattened cardboard, then cut out. Repeat once more!

3

Glue or tape both cutout panels to the opposite sides of a smaller box. See image for reference.

4

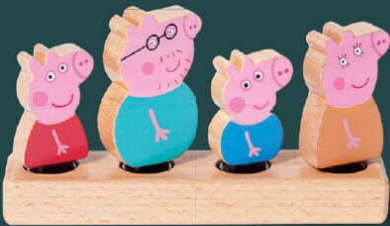

Time to decorate! Add a fresh coat of paint, sprinkle on glitter, or get creative with your other favorite art supplies.
